

Datto Workplace

Enable Secure, Remote Collaboration

Business Continuity is the preparation taken to ensure that companies will have the capability to operate its critical business functions during emergency events. This concept is more relevant than ever, given the current global health crisis.

During these times, we feel it's our responsibility to provide additional value that will enable your remote workforce to remain productive, secure, and collaborative. With so many businesses pivoting to a "work from home" model, this can present a data protection challenge. As you are moving your business data to new tools supporting remote workers, you are exposing your data to considerable risks. We can help you minimize that risk with Datto Workplace, an enterprise-grade file sync and share tool that can easily enable seamless, secure, remote collaboration quickly and easily.

Key Benefits:

Security

Ransomware Detection and Management

- Proactive threat management support that minimizes your loss of business productivity, in the event of an attack.

Sophisticated Admin Controls

- Multilayered access and controls ensures that users have permissions they need. This includes the ability to view, upload, download, and edit with public external sharing, password-protected links and configurable user and group internal settings.
- Leverage granular permissions and administration with policy profile capabilities for users and groups

Compliance

Audit Logs and Scheduled Reports

- Automated email updates of exports on user, project and device activity to maintain compliance.

Governance

Multi-Tenant Management Portal

- Consistently track, monitor, and manage all activity, users, devices, and storage in a single pane of glass

Controlled Device Enrollment and Remote Wipe for Mobile

- In the scenario that an employee leaves your organization, you can ensure that employees can no longer access business-critical data on their mobile devices.

We want to make sure you have the necessary tools and resources to keep your remote teams up and running. With Datto Workplace, we have confidence that we can provide your business complete governance of data while enabling secure, seamless collaboration for you and your clients.
